

Hundreds of visitors enjoyed shopping at The Cotswold Christmas Fair, supporting WellChild, at Daylesford Organic Farmshop

There was a variety of seasonal goodies on offer at The Cotswold Christmas Fair

Lucy Greaves, organiser of the Cotswold Christmas Fair, with a big cheese on Le Gruyère Cheeses From Switzerland stall

Rob and Jan Steptoe

Lucy Ashby-Hoare and Tom Coulter

The Christmas Cotswold Fair

Christmas shopping all under one roof – and helping a good cause too. The very popular Christmas Cotswold Fair returned to Daylesford Organic Farmshop in early November, running for an extra day for more chances to shop.

The 200 stallholders were carefully selected for their superb quality and variety, many of them independent producers and designers, with 10 per cent of their sales going to WellChild, the Cheltenham-based, national UK children's charity helping children and young people with serious and complex health needs to be cared for at home.

Visitors enjoyed a luxury meet-and-greet area in a huge yurt from LP Bohemia, a delicious café hosted by popular locals The Potted Goose and, for VIP guests, a special lounge hosted by Cotswold Grey. ♦

It wasn't just food on offer at this year's Cotswold Christmas Fair

Gaynor Cross, Zoe Bawtree, Trudi Pigott and Fi Burge

Megan Finlan and Hayley Flood

Sarah Dennis of the Borzoi Book Shop in Stow-on-the-Wold, with authors Georgina Montagu, Katy Campbell and photographer Mark Nicholson, with their books

Natasha and Emily Scrivens, with grandmother Penny Snell

Sue Coxon and Rachel Allpress, of Stoned & Waisted

Another caviar sale at The Cotswold Christmas Fair

Will Ward-Jones, Nick Chivers, Victoria Winter, Helen Waddilove, and Leigh Glazebrook, from Frank Knight offices around the Cotswolds, handing out goody bags to every visitor to the fair

The Cotswold Christmas Fair at Daylesford Organic Farmshop was also a chance for a chat

Lady Bathurst with Lara McCorquodale and Sarah Ballinger of Caspian Caviar

Abbie Guilding from WellChild welcoming visitors to the fair

Designer Olivia Morris and Lou Vigers

Bunny Rolls, Augusta Wreay, Annabel Salter, and Alice Fisher

Sue Adcock and Jackie Harkin

PHOTOS: ANDREW HIGGINS/TWM TO ORDER PRINTS, VISIT THOUSANDWORDMEDIA.COM